

RJS SCHOLARSHIP IN INTEGRATIVE THINKING

The RJS Scholarship in Integrative Thinking is for students who are better thinkers and problem solvers because of their experiences with Integrative Thinking. A successful candidate can describe what they learned from Integrative Thinking, how it changed their behaviour and thinking, and why this change is important to them.

The Scholarship

This scholarship was established by Roger and Sue Short, Roger Martin, and Jennifer Riel. Their generous donation supports and recognizes the use of Integrative Thinking in classrooms across Ontario.

The scholarship awards $4000 for each year of a student's undergraduate program at the University of Toronto. To be eligible, students must have been part of an Integrative Thinking classroom.

The recipient will be invited to our Celebration of Thinking on May 22nd at Rotman School of Management.

"The RJS scholarship allowed me to focus less on the financial burden of school and more on my studies. It also gave me the opportunity to explore my extracurricular interests."

- Brian Feng, Scholarship recipient

To apply, fill in this form by May 3rd, 2024 at 11:59PM.

What you need to submit

1. A letter telling us about yourself, your plans for school, and your qualifications for this scholarship.
2. A 250-word essay on how Integrative Thinking has impacted you, personally.
3. The name and email address of a teacher or administrator who will be their reference. We will contact the references of the top three applicants.